Brain Injury Community Support Worker (IADL)

OUR MISSION: Providing excellence in support, housing, education and community, we work together to restore hope and a future to those overcoming the challenges before them.

The Cridge Centre for the Family strives to be an exceptional employer by providing our staff with support, flexibility, and a workplace that makes a positive difference in our community. Our benefit package is outstanding, and the work environment is positive and supportive. We commit to thorough onboarding, which includes substantial orientation, complete training, and support as you integrate into our team.

The Brain Injury Community Support Worker provides compassionate, client-centered support to survivors of intimate partner violence who have experienced a brain injury. Working under the supervision of the Program Coordinator, this role builds trusting relationships with clients, supports their recovery and well-being, and helps them navigate the complex impacts of trauma and brain injury. The position coordinates services, advocates for appropriate support, and collaborates with community partners to ensure clients' cognitive, emotional, and health-related needs are understood and addressed. Through individualized support, the Brain Injury Community Support Worker promotes safety, stability, independence, and improved quality of life. Please note that this position requires union membership.
